

Idea to app, fast

Replit is the best way to create and ship real projects, apps, games, and more right from your phone. With Replit, you can create anything, anywhere. Make apps & sites with natural language prompts. No-code needed

Tell Replit Agent your app or website idea, and it will build it for you automatically. It's like having an entire team of software engineers on demand, ready to build what you need — all through a simple chat.

Here's what you can do with the Replit app:

- Build websites and apps with natural language using Replit Agent
- Instantly host anything with zero setup deployment
- Create live with others through real-time multiplayer collaboration
- Create in any language and any framework
- Clone and remix projects from over 33 million creators
- Set up custom domains for any of your projects
- Use replAuth to easily configure login for your project's users
- Use ReplDB to quickly spin up databases for any project

Replit is perfect for you whether you're new to creating apps or have been shipping projects for years. If you're a beginner, we have easy-to-use templates so you can learn to create your first dream project. If you're an expert, Replit has advanced features so you can ship real, meaningful projects all from your phone.

With Replit, you can quickly create and collaborate with others. Invite friends to collaborate live on a project together or clone other people's projects to remix their ideas as your own. With millions of templates and projects, you'll have plenty of options to choose from.

Once you create a project or app, it will be instantly live with custom urls so you can share it with friends. Hosting on Replit is built-in. With zero setup and custom domains, sharing your work with anyone anywhere is easy.

With Replit you can go from creating your first app and sharing projects with the world all from your mobile phone. We're so stoked to see what you build.
